To Carrie Belle McNeill, who has retired as Associate Director of Nursing Education, we, the Class of Nineteen Hundred and Fifty-five, dedicate this yearbook of the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing.

Mrs. McNeill was very understanding, perhaps because she is a mother and grandmother, and always seemed to have time to stop and talk to the students when they came to her.

In March, 1952, the Spring Class of 1955 entered Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing, bewildered, yet excited about the three years ahead of us. Since then the class has participated individually and as a group in various activities: dances, sports, chorus, and student council.

Without a doubt the most thrilling and satisfying experience of the class was sponsoring the "Spring Carnival" in January, 1955. With the help of the entire student body the class made this evening one which will be long remembered by all.

At the close of our three years at Presbyterian we leave behind us many memories of the friendships and good times we have shared here and look forward to many years of future experiences in nursing.

Fall of '55 and the end of training! Not the end of nursing though, but the beginning for the sixty-four members of the PHSN graduating class.

The past three years have been packed with hard work and lots of fun for all.

Each of us will leave a part of herself here at Presby as she goes on and takes with her memories of the friends she has made and the group of girls who chose our school, our class.

The first six months, said to be the most difficult, were spent in learning the basic skills of the profession. How time flew until capping, that memorable occasion and that new addition which brought envious looks from the preclins and approving glances from the upperclassmen.

The correlated clinical work now made duty more interesting while socially we were called on as a class to be hostesses at various school events such as our class picnic held at Catherine Legg Memorial Park in Hinsdale.

The second annual yearbook was our pride and joy, this year, and so we turn another page and another chapter in many lives.

CLASSES

Study, observation, and practice are the means through which nursing is learned. The foundation for clinical practice in the hospital is laid in the classrooms and laboratories of the School of Nursing. Visual education aids are used to emphasize many areas of our study. The use of the microscope introduces us to microorganisms responsible for disease as we learn to correlate scientific knowledge with nursing practice. In our dietetics laboratory, we apply principles of nutrition in the preparation and serving of meals.

Our basic skills begin here - in the classroom - and they are developed in all areas of the hospital, where we move toward our goal of becoming nurses by observation and work.

Nursing Arts - that all-encompassing study that develops and perfects the techniques we use in giving bedside care to our patients. With hands trembling under the educational eye of the instructor, we perform procedures upon one another. As our assurance and understanding grow, we employ the nursing arts we have learned in the care of hospital patients—with the hope that our once-trembling hands are now dexterous and efficient in making our patients comfortable.

Four weeks are spent in the Dietetics Department of the hospital, where we gain knowledge of the "behind-the-scenes" work that goes into the serving of patients' meals. Emphasis is placed upon special diets and the efficient and attractive serving of foods for the hospital patient.

Post - Anesthesia Recovery Room - here we work for one week to participate in the immediate care of patients coming from surgery. Blood pressures, emergency treatment, and keen observation are all-important factors in our duties in this department.

Learning operative aseptic technique is the keynote of our thirteen-week's experience in the operating rooms. As circulating and scrub nurses, we participate in the intriguing work of major and minor surgery. We grow in appreciation of the surgeons' skill and in our awareness of the amazing intricacies of human anatomy.

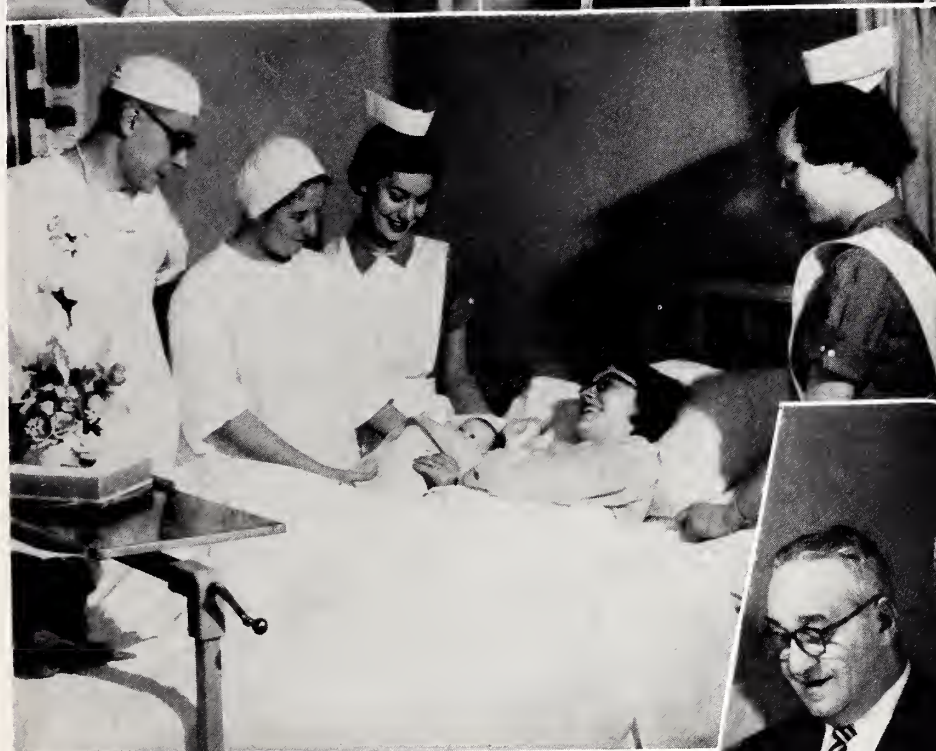

Learning the prevention and treatment of disease outside the hospital is the purpose of our six-weeks' experience in the Central Free Dispensary. Many areas of out-patient care are included in our work here: assisting with the physical examination of patients, consulting with patients about their daily diet and health habits, and learning to be "teachers of health" and to adapt hospital practices for home use.

Obstetrics is a word that is important to every woman, and it forms a vital part in the training of each nurse. Here we take our part in the happiness surrounding the birth of a baby. In the delivery rooms, we care for mothers during labor and participate in the teamwork of actual deliveries. And there's the nursery, where we can all be "mothers" as we feed and care for the newborn babies. Included in the three months spent in the Obstetrics Department are the care and instruction of mothers following delivery.

Pediatrics - the world of children! Our three months here include a lot: the gavage feeding of the fragile prematures; diaper-changing and rocking chairs in the infants' section; T.V., stories, and games in the children's department; the intricacies of formula preparation in the milk laboratory. Throughout, the training of our powers of observation to give competent care to these "little people" of the hospital.

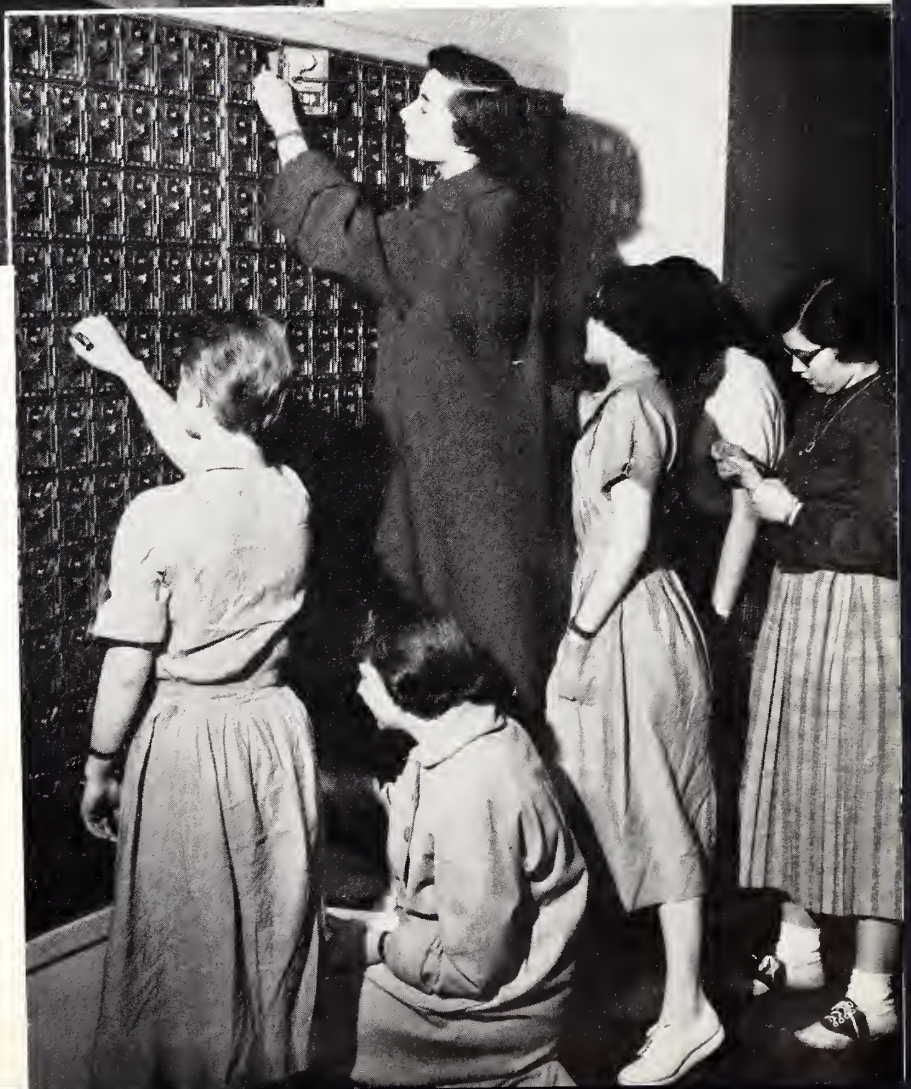

Twenty-four girls each year are selected to affiliate with the Visiting Nurse Association of Chicago. The V.N.A. provides an excellent opportunity to practice nursing in the home, many times under adverse conditions.

The girls who have been fortunate enough to have this affiliation can tell you many amusing stories of their experiences; the many times they couldn't find the house, and how many times they got on a bus headed in the wrong direction.

Each girl spends one week on the T.T.S. Service. During this time she learns the principles of venopuncture and venoclysis.

The examining room supplies the floors with various equipment such as spinal trays, cut-down trays, and other specialized equipment necessary for treatment.

That nightly call . . . lucky!

Hines affiliation . . . guess who?

Long talker . . .

Excitement on graduation night!

What a doll . . . the B.R. garb!

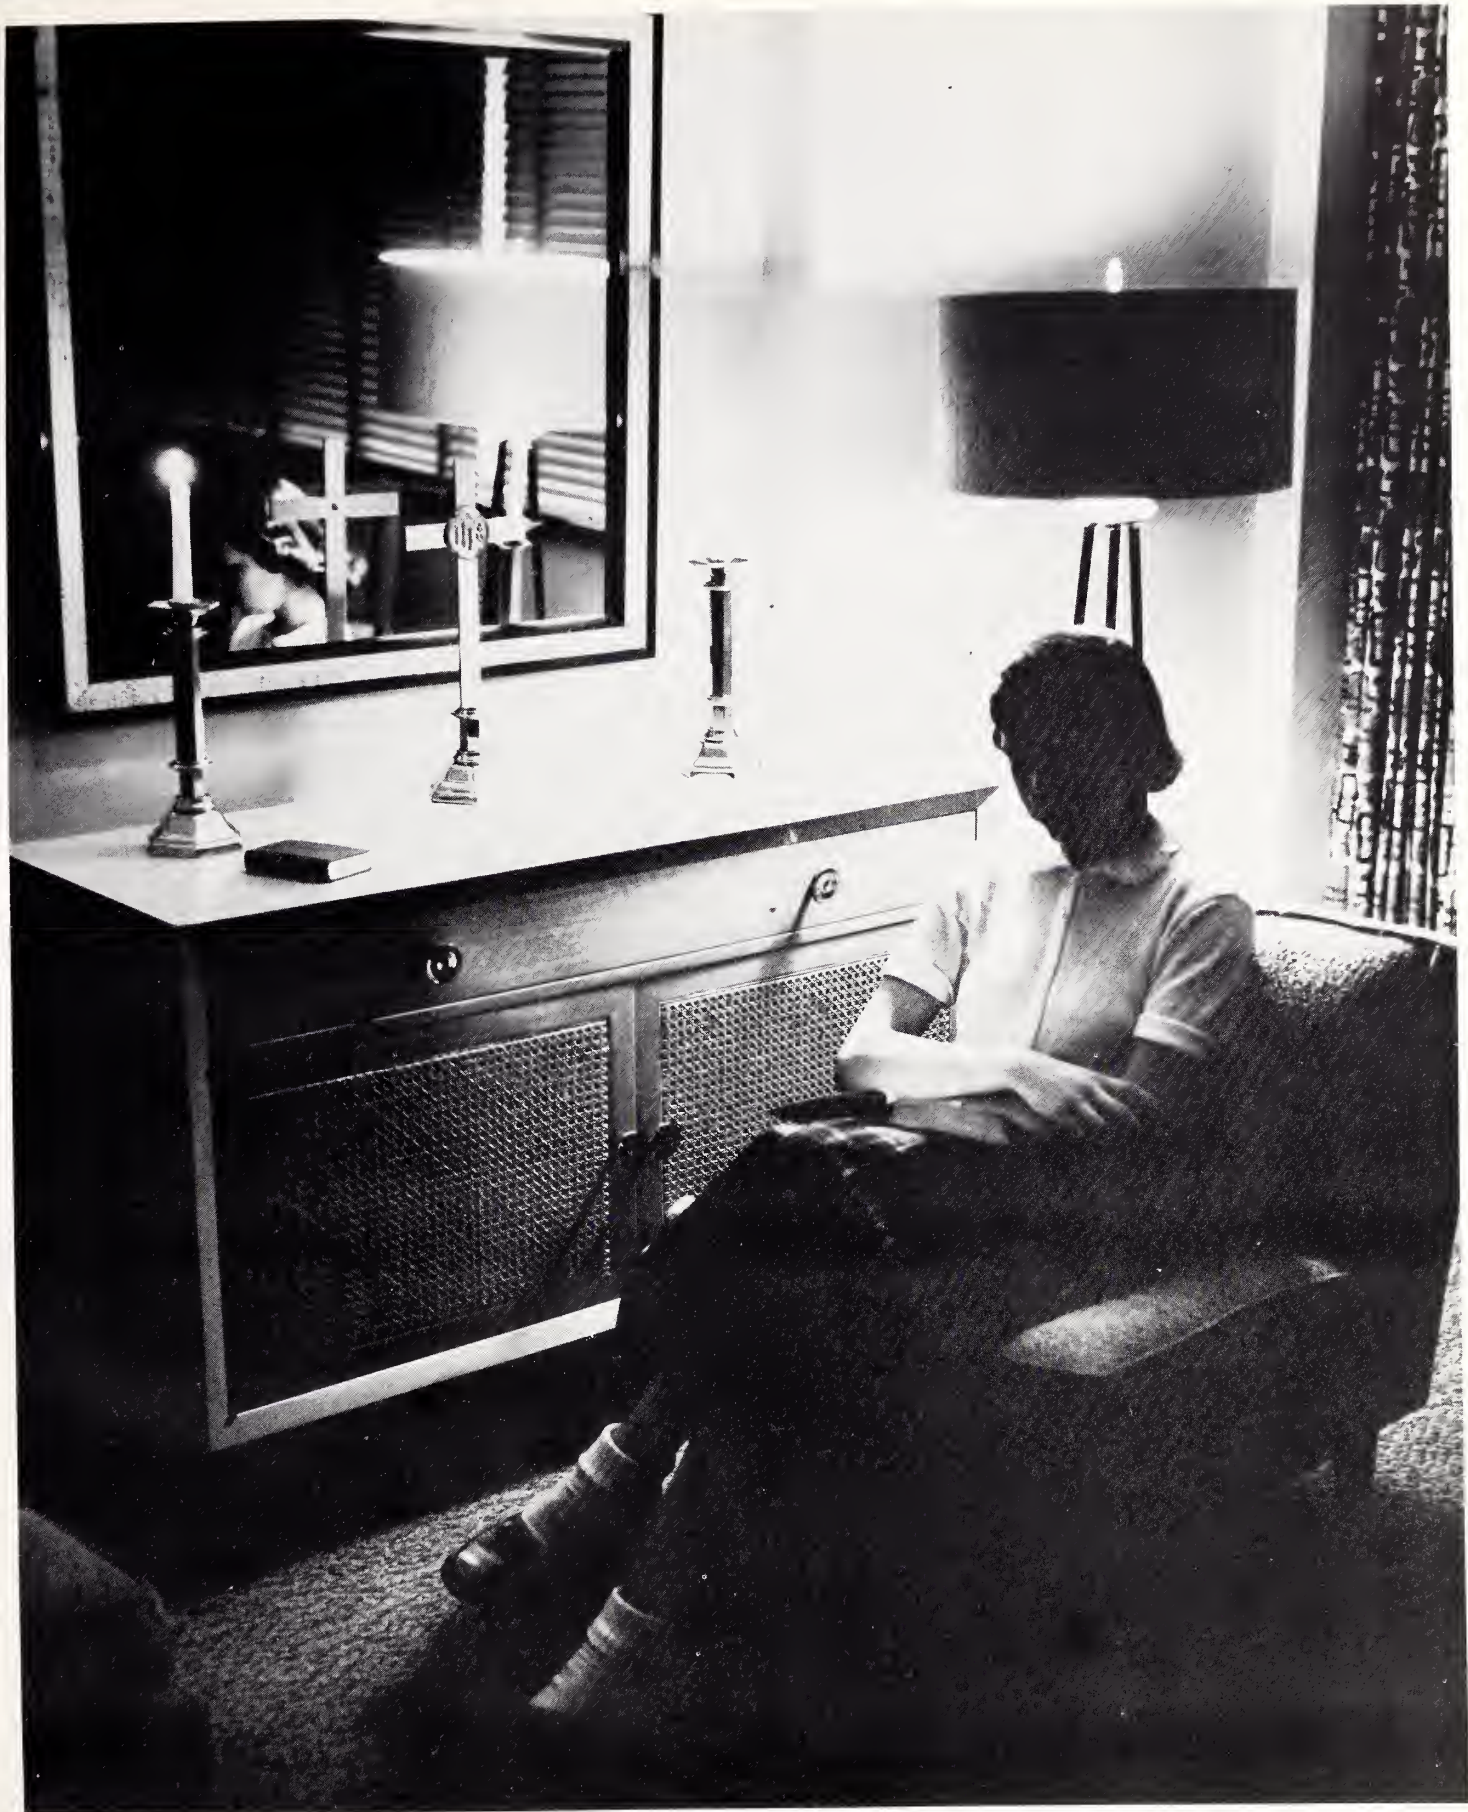

Refreshments anyone?

Typical crammer!

ORGANIZATIONS

MRS. ESTELLE ROBERTS SCHUBERT

THE FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE CHOIR

On Thursday nights many girls can be heard saying, "I'm sorry but I have to go to chorus." Throughout the year the chorus is asked to sing at various functions in and away from the hospital.

On February 27, 1955, the choir was invited to sing for the Westminster Fellowship Assembly held in Oak Park to a gathering of around 2,000 young people from Presbyterian Churches in Chicago.

An impressive Christmas Vesper which includes a pageant is held each year in the nurses' residence. It is really a pleasure to listen to Romberg and Kern's tunes sung by the choir at the traditional Spring Concert. Darlene Pioli, Vera Koehler and Theo Van Wert have added much to the solo work of the chorus. The highlight of the year is singing for commencement at Fourth Presbyterian Church.

The Student Faculty Government Association is the law-making and law-enforcing body of Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing. Its duties range from planning social activities to enforcing school regulations through a judiciary committee.

Two representatives are elected from each class; one being the class president. Council meetings are held the third Tuesday of each month and four mass meetings are held during the year. Individual classes meet between council meetings for the representatives to give a report of the council and to return student suggestions or complaints.

It was through the S.F.G.A. that our first all-school outings took place in the summer of 1954; one at Dunes State Park and the other at Katherine Legg Memorial Park.

Many students had an opportunity to attend the N.S.N.A. convention in Chicago in May, 1954, as well as the S.N.A.I. convention earlier in Chicago. Three students represented our school at the second bi-annual state convention in Springfield.

More interest has been stimulated in the district, state and national student organizations as well as in our own association. Because of this a state and district representative have been included on the ballot for the first time.

Joanne Schultz honored the school by serving as corresponding secretary of district this past year.

To strengthen the faith and enrich the lives of the Student Nurses at Prebysterian, our Nurses Christian Fellowship, which is an international organization, offers an active program of worship, service and Christian fellowship. Many lively discussions and frequent Bible studies help to deepen our understanding of the Word of God. Occasionally missionary speakers present to us the spiritual needs of those in other lands. A highlight of this past year was a talk by Chaplain Lillie, from Cook County Hospital, who inspired each of us with his enthusiasm in ministering to the sick in that institution. Another valuable experience of the year was a combined Nurses Christian Fellowship - Intersivity Christian Fellowship weekend conference at Camp Duncan in April, which was attended by a number of our students.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Carol Schleef .....	President
Doris Graham .....	Secretary-Treasurer
Dolores Paulsen .....	Manager

More athletic-minded girls are participating in gym activities at the U. of I. gym. Basketball, volleyball, badminton and many other sports are provided. During good weather baseball is played outdoors. When it can be arranged P.W.A.A. competes with other schools of nursing in various sports.

Every spring a picnic is held for the girls in the chorus by the members of the Woman's Board at one of their homes. There is much eating, swimming and general fun for all.

SOCIAL

LOIS SINGLETON
QUEEN AT "FANTASY IN BLUE"

Everyone has an opportunity to participate in the social events in one way or another. It's hard to tell who has more fun—the decorators, the dancers or the clean-up crew; but it's certain that all have some memories which can not be forgotten.

The classes alternate in sponsoring the monthly dances in the recreation room. Originality is fully expressed in the names selected and in the decorations. Remember the "L.C." dance, Spring Fever, Dogpatch Doings, Coconut Cutups and others?

The Social Committee of SFGA plans two formal dances a year. Everyone enjoyed AUTUMN ARTISTRY held at lovely Michigan Shores Club in October. Our beautiful chandelier room in the nurses' residence was the setting for FANTASY IN BLUE in February. Lois Singleton reigned as queen with Ardell Israels, Sally Jenson, Patty Knepple, Shirley Masterson, Maxine Meyer, Jacqueline Pagin and Margaret Welsh as her court.

I think you should wear it here!

Good evening, Miss———.

And we danced and we danced!

Smiling faces during intermission at "Spring Fever."

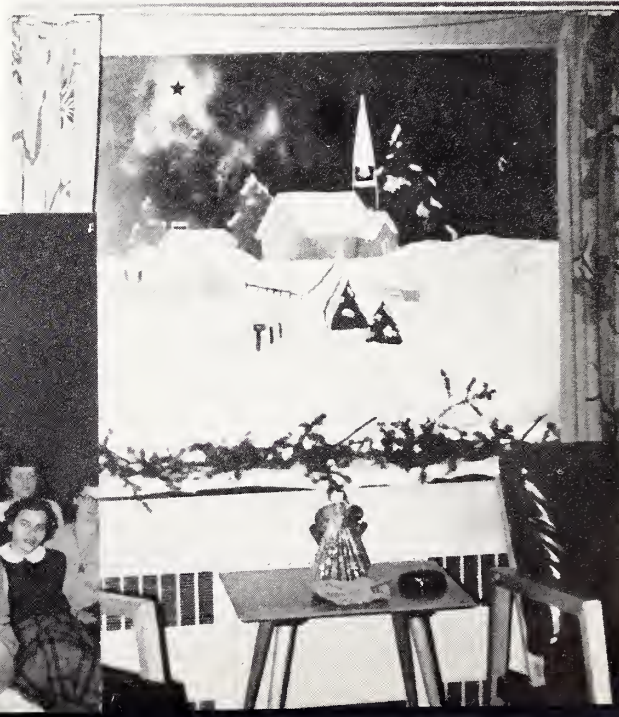

During the year, we have numerous teas. Sometimes these are for special occasions such as the arrival of the new preclins, for the graduating class, to honor graduates or instructors who are leaving after giving several years of service or just a "get together" tea to help us brush up on our "tea" manners.

Christmas at Presbyterian is 'always a joyous time with much merry-making and decorating. A prize is given to the floor that has the most unusual lounge decorations. This is also the time for parties and grab-bag sessions.

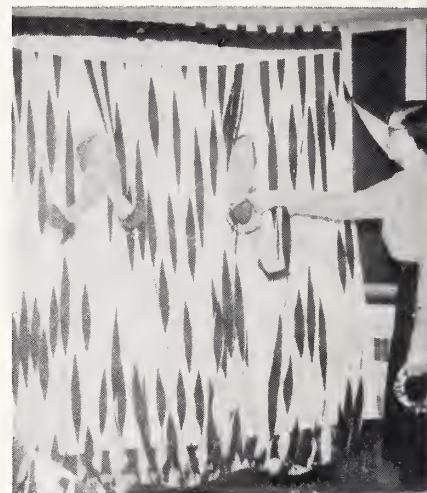

It has become a tradition to hold a school carnival for the purpose of raising money for the annual. This year it was called the MARDI GRAS. The overall planning of the carnival is usually done by the spring class.

Each class participates in its execution; some with booths, some with dancing, and others with refreshments. This year many new and clever ideas helped to make the carnival a large success. To name a few, the French Cafe, the Variety Show, shaving the balloon, and the turtle races.

Preceding any event there must be work. If you were to ask the girls, most of them would tell you that the preparation was half the fun.

A great big thanks to everyone for the MARDI GRAS!

HEALTH SERVICE

When we are ill, and it seems that even student nurses get sick, our health service does their best for us. Miss Fry, Miss Hubbard and Miss Kruckeberg are there to hand out pills, cough syrup, heating pads and other miscellaneous items for our use. Dr. Charles R. Wolfe is the school physician whose kind advice often is, "I think it would be best if you would stay in tonight."

Our student health program is kept functioning through the yearly physicals,, chest X-rays and many other incidentals necessary for our rotations and affiliations. And who hasn't received a note saying, "You have an appointment to see . . . "

Mrs. Mary Beard, Miss Orizaba Fry, Miss Mabel Hubbard.

When Mrs. Beard left in March, Miss Kruckeberg replaced her as a member of the staff.

Though the infirmary environment is quite cheerful it helps to have friends visit.

Here are some familiar faces to all of us—some more so than others, depending on which floor or floors you have lived in Sprague Home. They help us by taking care of our uniforms, supplying clean linens to our rooms and seeing that we have our drapes and slip covers cleaned, and keeping our rooms clean. And when something needs fixing, we can always count on Paul to take care of it.

Drs. C. Chedister, R. Oberhelmen, F. Carter, R. K. Gilchrist, R. Helmen.

To the attending men, the residents and the interns, we wish to express our appreciation for their guidance and instruction in the hospital and the classroom.

DOCTORS DONEGAN AND PARKER

Doctors: Diggs, Campbell, Olwin, Berkheiser, Traut, Squire, Theis, Gittelson and Schultz.

Eat! Boy, am I full! The setting for our class dinner was the beautiful Kungsholm, where the food and the opera were superb.

A Big and Little Sister party is usually given for the new students on their first night here. It serves as a get-acquainted social for all.

The Big and Little Sister party is only the first of the parties held during training. The girls can find almost any excuse for one.
